INTRODUCTION

In Part 1, I highlight the first series of precious and semi precious stones such as Aventurine, Moss Agate, Amazonite, Blood stone, Citrine, Diamond, Emerald, Jade, Lapis Lazuli and Malachite. fortune.

In Part 2, I shall continue to present to you the other kinds of precious and semi precious stones. Among them are Peridot, Petrified Wood, Pyrite, Quartz Rutilated, Ruby, Sapphire, Cherry Red Tiger's Eye, Golden Yellow Tiger's Eye and Blue Tiger Hawk's Eye.

PERIDOT: They promote protection, health, wealth and sleep. Peridot is worn or carried for general healing purposes. Its deep green hue suggests peridot's use in wealth attracting spells. It is also found in meteorites.

PETRIFIED WOOD: Petrified wood consists of ancient trees that eons ago fell and were covered with mineral-rich water. The water dissolved the wood and replaced it with various minerals. Helps one with past life recall during meditation. Promotes wealth and offer protection, promotes longevity, past life regression, healing and protection.

PYRITE: Assists with concentration and memory, excellent for students. Also for developing spiritual vision and psychic abilities. Resonates with energy of sun. Use at third eye for spiritual development and use at solar plexus for enhancing personal and psychic powers. Influence eyes, brains and bloodstream. Good protector against negative vibrations and can attract wealth. One manner of wearing it is to have a pyrite doughnut and string it together with an ancient Chinese coin, the one with the hole in the center.

QUARTZ, RUTILATED: Adds energy and life force to the clear quartz properties. A regenerator of people, crystals and plants. Helps one to resist aging and the general cellular breakdown caused by time. Rutilated qualities provide an electrical zap that helps stimulate nervous system. Good for patients recovering from strokes. Another luck generating stone as Chinese liken it to “Fatt” stones because its hair like inclusions that look like hair.

RUBY: Strengthens the heart emotionally and focuses the ability to love. Provides energy boost, and increases personal courage. Provides emotional and physical stability – a preserver. Heals blood disorders and provides courage to the wearer.

SAPPHIRE: Amplifies intuitive ability. Aids meditation or prayer as it provides mental calming. Complementary affect is on digestive system, helping with assimilation on a physical level. Total effect is healing and centering, physically and mentally. Yellow sapphire is considered rare, and it is used to attract wealth while Indian women wear it to help them bear children. Another version is the “asterisk” star sapphire which is another excellent stone used to protect against negativity.

TRIPLE TIGER EYES: Three species of Tiger Eyes are a formidable luck attracting and protection stones each with own unique property.

CHERRY RED TIGER'S EYE: Excellent stone for public oratory, presentations, etc. Enhance confidence in oneself and the subject being presented. Throat chakra mineral with resonance in the other chakras, thus individual harmonics are bridges to facilitate greater expression of self and the knowledge of total self.

GOLDEN YELLOW TIGER'S EYE: Innately carrying high vibration charge, yet grounding energy. Good for those spaced-out, uncommitted to life, or unable to manifest their will through action. Brings courage to timid individuals. Good for concentration and focusing energy. Relieves headache.

BLUE TIGER'S HAWK'S EYE
