

Guide To Countering Black Magic

In this article, I am going to discuss some aspects of countering Black Magic. In our quest for windfall, we have to keep our personal energy vibration at the optimal level so that we are better prepared to receive good luck and fortune when they come our way. Black

Magic is an externally inducted negative energy force that could not only harm you physically but might cause a host of other problems such as ill health, bad luck and accidents. They are normally casted by dark magicians practicing elemental black magic and manipulation of the dark forces.

I suppose that in countering evil spells or black magic, the greatest harm to us is the Fear generated within ourselves. Once a Rinpoche told me that for Black Magic to work, the victim must be psychologically made/"lured" to feel and fear the effect of the Black Magic, so much so that the slightest discomfort in his body would be in-proportionally manifested and be blamed on the supposedly psychic attack. Therefore, the Fear factor alone can wreck havoc on the victim of Black Magic, even causing him to act irrationally and driving him to seek self-destruction, or even harm those who are close to him. He advocated that the victim prayed to Buddha earnestly, so that he could receive the Holy Lights blessing and protecting him.

Vice versa, when we wish to counter the negative effect of psychic attack or Black Magic, we should have Faith in ourselves and in whoever we call upon to protect us. So, chanting a simple prayer, calling upon whomever our God, the Angels or Divas or Deities that are close to our heart and earnestly asking for their protection will help. Do it before you go to asleep and this is one simple counter measure against a magic spell.

Some objects such as natural stones may also help. Once an Italian cook came to me asking me for advice on how to counter the “Evil Eye” spell, and I gave him a hematite pendant to wear as protection. A year later, he met me again and told me that the pendant worked, and since then he had not been harassed by the Black Magic. Hematite serves as a magic mirror not only deflecting the psychic assault but reflecting it back to the originator. Wearing a piece or keeping one below the pillow would be helpful for a good night rest.

Similarly, we can also use some high vibration stones such as white quartz, amethyst, tektite and even oldavite (both meteorites). I also recommend hanging some faceted cut natural stones – best to use either white quartz or smoky quartz balls at the entry points to the rooms, the doors and windows. You may use a good piece of laser wand such as white quartz, or selenite or kyanite to seal off all the entry points such as doors and windows. To do that, you hold the laser wands in our right hand and trace the outlines or the edge of the windows and doors from right to left. Chant whatever prayers appropriate and forming an intention that the pure white lights from the stones etched along the edges of the windows and doors would serve to ward off all uninvited negative energies.

Sometimes, when I feel the presence of evil in my room, I invoke the Etheric Pyramid. I spin it counter clockwise to clean the confined space. Bringing down the White Lights or Golden Lights, and flooding the room also works. It is universal truth that all forms of negative energy can be overcome with stronger and higher positive energy. Chanting of mantra helps generate powerful positive energy. Similarly reciting names of God, Buddha, Bodhisattva, Deva and highly evolved spirits could also help. But whichever the case, the person chanting the mantra or calling forth the Divine protection must be sincere and has the ability to connect to this higher level of vibration. Constant practice in Meditation and Qigong will help a person to develop this connectivity to higher form of energy vibration that could counter and dissolve the negative energy.

I remember reading about one writer of a book on psychic defense. He described how we should best defend ourselves against black magic. Her unconventional view is to compose pink compassionate light from our heart and channel it across space and time to the source of the black magic. She suggested that instead of begrudging or showing hatred to the originator of the negative auric attack, we are supposed not only to forgive him but shower him with unconditional love.....I just wonder how many of us can do this?

When everything fails, the last resort is to look for a spiritual master, a guru, a high monk or “white” Bomoh to help ward off the Black Magic attacks. These people are hard to come by, and most are rather reluctant to get involved in offering their helping hands in countering Black Magic.

Thank you for reading my article. I hope the guidelines are helpful as to how you may counter and protect yourself from negative energies.
